BARIUM TRAINING AIDED CHARLES IN SHOP-SCHOOL LIFE

A 1952 Barium Springs graduate, Charles Stevens, now 23 years old, is in many ways like any other young man of his age who has been spending the summer at Virginia Beach. But he's unlike most young men his age in one respect—he hasn't been swimming all summer. "I haven't had time", Charlie explains.

His colleagues in Statesville say he always was a busy and thrifty lad while growing up at the local church home. They take it as a matter of course that every morning from 7 to 9 o'clock he's at the College of William and Mary in Norfolk, studying industrial management and Spanish. Afterwards, he hurries back to Virginia Beach to open his Mexican Shop on Atlantic Avenue between 23rd and 24th Streets. He usually stays open until 10 p. m.—and on Sundays as well.

The Virginian-Pilot newspaper of Norfolk-Portmouth, Va., has taken note of Charles' shop and in describing the carrot-topped young man states that customers who come in to look at his imported handicraft find him a pleasant, brown-eyed young man with a friendly, dignified manner.

Keeping busy isn't new for Charles. After high school, he had two years in the armed forces. After that came college. This fall, he has entered his junior year at the University of North Carolina.

Young Man On Own

Charles is a young man with a purpose—and a young man on his own. When he was two years old, his mother died. His father, a small farmer, sent Charles and his sister, who was nine, to the Presbyterian Children' Home at Barium Springs, a few miles south of Statesville.

"It's the only home I've ever had," said Charles. "I'm just as close to it as ever." When four younger boys came from the same orphanage to the beach this summer, he took time off from his shop to help show them a good time.

He has another friend at the beach from the same environment. "His name is Carl Spicer. He's attending Carolina, was in the service, too; he was in my high school class at Barium Springs. He's had the same deal I had."

Charles stopped to make change for a woman who had just bought an embroidered, beruffled handmade toreador shirt.

"Most Fortunate Kids"

"We were the most fortunate kids in the world," he said.

"We had training and discipline, everything but parental love. We had 300 brothers and sisters. How many kids have got that much? We played football and basketball against all the other schools in the state. We learned to play together, work together, live together.

"That's what I don't think most kids have. I found that out in the service. They had to learn to adjust themselves. It isn't easy to live with a lot of other types of people."

If Charles got a lot out of his orphanage experience, he got a lot out of being in the Army, too. He was in Japan from 1952 to 1954.

"I never would have had any desire to keep on with school if it hadn't been for the service. I saw how far the college graduate, the man with an education, could go in the service—and in life. The person who didn't have it would always be stopped.

"When I got out of high school, I had thought that was enough. But everything I saw, all my experiences, my travels, showed me there was more to life than just earning a living and raising a family. I learned you really never have enough education, and that college is the quickest way to gain it and really get on a level with other people—the people you have to associate with, and want to associate with. You want to find your place in the world—a good place."

All through the years, Charles' older sister has helped him. Six years ago, she started her own Mexican shop in Georgetown, near Washington, D. C. "It's a big thing now, with all these imported handmade things—clothes, jewelry, baskets, handloomed rugs, bric-a-brac, everything, and all Mexican. This is really a branch of her place. I couldn't have done it without her."

DON'T FORGET

Don't forget to make plans for the Thanksgiving Offering for Barium Springs. The Thanksgiving Offering is the life-line of the Home's operation. Therefore, we urge every church and minister to make careful plans for the Thanksgiving Offering for the boys and girls of the Home.

Five Hundred Men Attend Concord Rally

Despite the pouring rain brought in by "Flossy," five hundred men attended the annual Fall Rally for Concord Presbytery held at Barium Springs on Tuesday evening, September 25th.

Sixty gallons of apple cider had been prepared as an appetizer for the 1250 pounds of meat that had been barbecued for the occasion. The whole Barium family had been organized for the occasion. The men and boys were over the campus, parking cars. Twenty extra tables had been put in the big dining room, and the women and girls had been assigned their stations in the kitchen and dining room for the purposes of serving. Mrs. Marshall, the dietician, and her kitchen force had everything in readiness and at 5:30 the line began. The men continued in procession until 7:15 when the last one was served.

After the supper, they met for the evening session in Little Joe's Church. Judge Malcolm B. Seawell of Lumberton was the featured speaker. His address, "Operation Fun," was in the form of a report to stockholders of a church group who are in the business of sending children to camp. This act of applying Christian love in the community is to combat juvenile delinquency problems.

Fielding Clark of Conover was re-elected president of the organization. Other officers re-elected were vice-presidents, Edgar Readling of Concord; George C. Robbins of Lenoir; C. S. Kiser of Brookford. Bob Mashy, of Hickory, was elected secretary-treasurer to replace William D. Brown, also of Hickory.

New vice-presidents included Harold Mitchel of Valdese; R. G. Lytle of Mooresville; A. J. Gillespie, Jr., of Salisbury, and Harry W. Hasskamp of Marion.

In installing the new officers, the Reverend Robert R. Collins, local pastor, challenged the men to keep informed, be inspired and keep in touch with God.

Fred H. Brown, of Lenoir, gave a report on the Every Church Canvass for 1956.

R. D. Grier, of Statesville, was lauded as a person "who contributes most to the Presbytery," before he reported on the Development Committee. Grier explained that his group was formed three years ago to purchase land in rapidly developing areas where future churches can be built. Following his report, the only motion of the meeting was passed. It called for each club to subscribe $1.00 per member for the next three years to the development program.

R. G. Calhoun called the roll which was answered by 44 of the 77 churches in the Presbytery.

BARIUM SCHOOL--
"A Workshop For Child Growth and Development"

Any school, to serve its purpose, must enable an individual to live his life to the fullest degree of satisfaction. This degree of satisfaction is brought about through a great appreciation for literature, music, art, religion, the ability to live with others, and to earn a living that will contribute something to the society in which he lives. It is also the responsibility of the school to develop initiative, self-expression, cooperation, tolerance, and respect for authority. To accomplish these things a school must be flexible in order to meet the individual needs of its students, mentally, physically, spiritually, and socially.

In our Barium School we feel that we have been able to give each child more individual attention than would be possible in classes that are so overcrowded. It is our policy to study each child's needs, weaknesses and strengths, and to try to give him that feeling of confidence and security which will help him to grow and develop to his maximum capacity. We, as teachers, have tried to avoid swinging the pendulum to the extreme in any of the more modern methods of teaching or to the old obsolete methods of teaching. We feel that we have been able to obtain some degree of success in our methods. In recent years our classes have compared very favorably with other county schools in State-wide tests. Many children have been able to further their education, receiving degrees from some of our best colleges, and a large percentage of those who have gone directly from our school into their chosen fields of work have proven their ability to hold their own with the world in their respective communities.

Physically, no average school is prepared to give the physical training which our school affords. Being a small school, it is not the most talented child who receives physical training, but even the weakest child is not only given an opportunity but is encouraged to share in our physical education program. Time after time, we have seen weaklings develop into healthy, well co-ordinated individuals. This training begins even in the first grade. Our physical education set-up is a well-rounded program. It includes games of every type, including those that help a child socially, such as folk dancing. This well-rounded program continues from the first grade through the twelfth grade.

We have a corps of teachers who are concerned with the spiritual growth and development of each child. In addition to the devotional programs held in schools each day, the teachers are alert to give training in honesty, fair play, and reverence toward sacred things at every opportunity during the day.

Socially and culturally, we are striving to give our children a deeper sense of confidence and more knowledge of the acceptable rules of conduct as they take their place in society. Our athletic program brings our children in contact with young people from all over the State. Through our Beta Club some of our most talented students come in contact with the most capable of students from other schools in the State. Our Public School Music teacher takes groups of children to give programs in other places. Through these social contacts many friendships are formed that may last through a lifetime. Our children play host to visitors on the campus throughout the year. These visitors are mainly those who are interested in the finer things of life. Through these social contacts our children receive training that compares favorably with that received in most communities. Even

Barium Booth Wins In Iredell Fair

The booth prepared by the Barium School for the Iredell County Fair was acclaimed by the judges, given a blue ribbon, and awarded a first prize. Using the theme, "One World," the school had prepared a very impressive and attractive display, centering around the United Nations and depicting the effective manner in which the world may learn to live together.

In addition to this, many other prizes were won. The dairy boys won blue ribbons in each class of their Holstein showing and won the champion ribbon to bring home. The orchard group entered Grimes Golden, Delicious, Stayman Winesap, Black Twig, and other kinds of apples, bringing home several blue ribbons in these classes. The farm had only one class entry but brought home a blue ribbon and red ribbon on the sheep that had been entered.

As far as the children are concerned, though, the real blue ribbon should go to the Kiwanis Club and Mr. Ross Manning, the owner of the rides in the Midway. After the Barium Day had been rained out on Wednesday for the first time in many years, an invitation was extended for the Barium boys and girls to be the guests of the Kiwanis Club and Mr. Manning on Friday afternoon. So, wearing their school colors with pride in the accomplishments attained, the children spent the afternoon enjoying the pleasures of the whole of the fair. After visiting the exhibits the rounds were made on the Ferris Wheel, the Merry-go-round, the Dive Bomber, the Octopus, the Dipper, the Swings, the Glider, the Airplanes, the Ponies—all that was there and these were most graciously offered to every one of the boys and girls of the Home.

UNDER THE STEEPLE - Nuggets of News

FROM LITTLE JOE'S CHURCH

REV. ROBERT R. COLLINS, Minister

"I thank my God in all my remembrance of you . . . " (Philippians 1:3) These words written by the apostle Paul to his Christian friends at Philippi form one of the greatest compliments recorded in Scripture. Recently, while re-studying this letter of Paul, I suddenly realized the importance of this phrase. And I wondered if Paul had been writing to me instead of those friends in Philippi, could he . . . would he, have said the same thing? If he had been writing to you from the prison in Rome where he awaited the sentence of death, would he have started with these words, "I thank my God in all my remembrance of you . . ."?

It seems to me that this salutation indicates several things, about both Paul and his friends. First, it would say that their friendship was based on mutual gratitude. In Paul these people had found someone who was concerned about them. Because he had brought them the good news of Jesus Christ, the Philippians did not forget Paul. When they learned that he was in prison they sent one of their number to show their friendship, and by Epaphroditus they also sent a gift to supply Paul's needs. So, on both sides of the friendship there was a common feeling of thankfulness to God for having brought them together.

There is a second thing indicated in Paul's words. When Paul remembered his friends he said he made his prayer "with joy." This was because his Philippian friends shared a partnership with him in spreading the gospel. And to Paul this meant far more than any material gifts that could be sent to him. So, as he remembered them there was both a deep feeling of gratitude and an abiding sense of joy in the heart of Paul. It was for these reasons that Paul could declare, "I thank my God in all my remembrance of you . . ."

Here, Under the Steeple, we are a Christian community similar to the one Paul wrote to in Philippi. Who hope, that as you think of us, your remembrances are ones for which you can thank God. Surely, as we remember you, our many friends across the Synod of North Carolina, our hearts are filled with gratitude and joy. For you have made it possible for the gospel to be brought to this place which is our Home. You have come, as did Epaphroditus, and you have brought and sent gifts to supply our needs. We can say with all sincerity that we do thank God with joy as we remember you. And as we approach this season of Thanksgiving we trust that each of you can, as you think of us, utter Paul's prayer of thanksgiving: "I thank my God in all my remembrance of you, always in every prayer of mine for you all making my prayer with joy, thankful for your partnership in the gospel from the first day until now." Indeed, we have much for which to offer thanks for we are partners in bringing that gospel to His little children.

NEWS FROM THE COTTAGES

Infirmary

Since graduation and vacation two new girls have moved to the infirmary. Early each morning you will see one of them coming down the hall with thermometer in hand ready to take temperatures, and soon after her you will probably hear the other one clattering down the hall, trying to keep her trays from falling. Well, if you haven't guessed by now, our two new girls are Peggy Sellers and Sue Rannells.

We have not had many patients lately but with the rain and cold weather, we expect that we will have them soon.

One of our substitute housemothers has left us, but we have gotten a new one and we know that she is going to be good. Her name is Mrs. Templeton. Hope you can stand us, Mrs. Templeton!

We are all going to the Fair today so I guess we will have a lot of children with cuts and bruises.

The Infirmary Girls

Lees Cottage

Hello There,

What lucky boys we've been these last two months with birthday cakes and a weiner roast! We have had six birthdays already and two more coming right away.

Tomorrow we hope to go to the Fair--we probably won't sleep too well, riding dive bombers in our dreams.

Six of us have now become dairy boys and we really enjoy our work there.

We play our first football game this season on Friday—hope that we will win! Look out Lexington!

Bye for now—

Lees Boys

Howard Cottage

Well, we are back again—that is— the "Bean Stringers."

We are really living up to our name lately, along with several other cottages, too.

We are celebrating our birthdays at Howard. Vicki Brafford's is September 28th and Linda Shepherd's is October 1st. After that, Homecoming wil soon be here and lots of our friends will be returning to visit us.

We all expected to go to the Fair Wednesday, but due to the bad weather we did not get to go. We will go Friday if the weather permits, for which we are most grateful to the Fair Manager. We appreciate his kindness.

We'll be seeing you next month.

The Bean Stringers

Synod's Cottage

Hi! Everyone,

We have recently moved to second floor at Lottie Walker Building. We usually get beans to shell or string in the afternoons. Our best game is chase. We chase each other all over the place.

It sure has been bad weather for the past several days. We all hope its a good day the 28th because that's the fair day. Our school was very proud to take the blue ribbon for our exhibit. We are grateful to all those who helped us win the blue ribbon.

We are enjoying our new bus. It rides much better than our old one. It is pretty, too.

So long until next month.

Synod's Cottage Boys

Rumple Hall

Here we are again with the Rumple news.

Our Pioneers went to Charlotte for a picnic supper and Church Service one Sunday night recently. On last Sunday the Senior High Fellowship of Barium served as hosts for 475 young people from the Concord Presbytery. We all enjoyed it very much.

Tuesday night some of our girls had the privilege of serving the Men of the Church of Concord Presbytery.

This week is the week of the Iredell County Fair. Flossy picked the wrong week to come along so we could not go on Wednesday as we usually do. We hope to go on Friday afternoon.

On last Friday night the Home Ec Department of the Troutman School of which four of our girls are members held a square dance. The older girls enjoyed making cookies which were sold there almost as much as we enjoyed the dancing.

So long until next time.

The Rumple Hall Girls

Annie Louise

We live in Baby Cottage, second floor, but we are not babies!

Who, then, are we? We are Annie Louise girls waiting for our old worn out building to come down and a new one story cottage built to take its place.

We are happy here, excited about the fair while we bundle up in new boots to get through the mud and mud puddles which Flossy brought.

Don't you think its nice of the people who run the Iredell County fair to let us come on Friday after we were rained out on Wednesday? Today is Friday and we are keyed up about going this afternoon.

On Wednesday night we had our prayer service in the dining room at the close of the supper hour to keep from going out into the night rains. We like our Wednesday night prayer meetings and prepare for them by reading the chapters suggested in the Sunday bulletins in our daily devotionals.

We are making pretty things in school, some to bring home, such as paper animals, decorated flower pots and drawings for our bulletin board. Our spelling and arithmetic papers which get an S go on the board, too.

You'll hear from us for several months in Baby Cottage 11.

Annie Louise Girls

Lottie Walker

Dear Friends,

Since we haven't written for about a month and are far behind in our news, we don't quite know how to start.

Since we have written we have received some more girls. They are Linda and Peggy Bridgers, Patsy Mace, Linda and Peggy Jo Utsman,

ALUMNI NEWS

Norvin Hilliard entered Catawba College at Salisbury this year.

Mac Berryhill, Bobby Whiting and John Hudgins have entered Eastern Carolina Teachers' College at Greenville, N. C.

Joyce Kelly, student at the Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte, and Lena McLean Helms were visitors on the campus recently.

Rae Powell graduated at the Rowan Memorial Hospital on September 14th. She will remain at the hospital until December when her time is completed.

Jimmy Johnson has returned to Catawba College this year.

Born to Arthur and Marjorie Sigmon at Iredell Memorial Hospital in Statesville, September 22nd, a little girl named Janet Elizabeth.

Tommy Hudgins of Spencer, Morris Freeman of Statesville, Lee Spencer of Statesville, Ed Burney of Statesville, and David Burney of Valdese were among those attending the supper for the Men of Concord Presbytery at Barium on September 25th.

Nellie Rae Sellers, was married September 21st at Conway, S. C., to Robert Bell of Wilmington, N. C.

Delores Ramsey and Bobby McMannen were married on Saturday, September 29th, at Lee Memorial Church in Winston-Salem.

Ernest Austin has written a letter saying that he is to leave fort Knox, September 29th, to report at Fort Dix, N. J., and will then go to Europe. He graduated from the school that he was in on September 28th.

Louise Bradshaw has returned to Montreat for her third year. She is in the Montreat College Chorus this year, and she has been appointed advertising manager for the Sun Dial, the college annual, this year.

An interesting letter has come from Mary Ellen and Ernest Stricklin regarding their work in Hazard, Ky. At the Easter Service twenty-three persons joined the church. Ernest preached three baccalaureate sermons and made two graduation addresses.

Lois Dellinger and John Price were married in Charlotte in September.

The Reverend Burriss Bender has moved from Phelps, Ky., to Canoe, Ky. He and Nellie Culp Bender have done wonderful work at Phelps and we wish for them every success at Canoe.

Barium Springs Scene Of Rally

Presyterian young people from as far west as Morganton and east to Salisury, with their adult advisors, gathered at Little Joe's Presbyterian Church at Barium Springs last Sunday for the annual fall rally of the Senior High Fellowship of Concord Presbytery. There were 381 young people registered and 75 adults, representing 41 churches in the Presbytery.

Early comers enjoyed a tour of the Barium campus, guided by their Barium hosts. At the hour of the rally the entire group entered the sanctuary of Little Joe's church for a hymn sing and worship period.

Harriet Sloop of Statesville, moderator of the Senior High Fellowship of Concord Presbytery, presided and informed the young people of interesting activities planned in the Presbytery for coming months.

As part of the opening worship service, the new theme for 1957, "Who Is My Brother?" with the theme picture and theme hymn were presented by Tommy Smith of Laurinburg and Davidson College, the moderator of the Senior High Fellowship of the North Carolina Synod.

Following the worship period there was outdoor recreation on the campus, directed by Rev. Woodrow McKay of Salisbury and Lester Cannon of Cleveland.

Highlight of the rally was a message by Rev. Richard E. Hildebrandt of Elkin, who challenged the young people to think of three areas where devoted Christians are needed to serve today and in the future: (1) the cause of brotherhood; (2) politics and government; (3) church vocations. The Rally adjourned after supper.

Works at Hospital

Charles said what he does in the summer really supports him. During the college year, he does clerical work at North Carolina Memorial Hospital, "but you can not work but so many hours when you're in school." He's majoring in economics.

Last summer, he was at Rehobeth Beach, Del. "A very small place—I was just experimenting around and starting out." Even then, he and his sister were making plans for him to open up at Virginia Beach this summer.

"She'd worked summers at the beach, when she was working her way through Women's College in Carolina," he said, "She knew the clientele, and said it was a nice clientele. She thought this was the best and biggest beach anywhere around. I was a little afraid at first, but ever since I opened up June 1, I've been glad I came. I hope I'll be able to open up around Christmas, too."

At that moment the telephone rang, and Charles went to answer it. "That was my girl," he said proudly, "She's on a newspaper—in Fayetteville. She phoned to say she'd gotten in to Norfolk, and was on her way here. She graduated from UNC last December."

When does he find time to study? Between customers, and usually for an hour after he closes shop at night—"before I fall asleep, that is, which is something I find quite, quite easy to do."

REGENTS TO MEET IN FALL SESSION

The Regents of the Presbyterian Orphans' Home will meet in their regular Fall session at Barium Springs on November 8th. This is one month later than the accustomed meeting and has been necessitated by the change of the fiscal year. September 30th closed the fiscal year for the first time and the auditors will have a report on the six months elapsed since the last audit. The new fiscal year, beginning October 1st, will run until September 30, 1957.

The new members attending the Board will be Mrs. W. W. McGinn from Mecklenburg Presbytery, Mrs. David C. Clark from Granville Presbytery, Mr. R. L. Corbett from Albemarle Presbytery, and Mr. George Stovall from Mecklenburg Presbytery. President Fred A. Long of Lenoir will be presiding for the first time as the new president of the Board, succeeding Mr. W. E. Price who retired from membership in the board by reason of having served two terms.

The Board will be concerning itself with the over-all operation of the Home, giving particular attention to the necessity of renovating and equipping both laundry and the sewing room. The building housing these two operations will have to be repaired. The equipment in these buildings was second-hand thirty-four years ago and is now almost completely worn out. The Board will hope to make plans for the dedication of the new Church if it seems that the way be clear by reason of the memorials removing the remainder of the debt.

Of particular interest will be the report of the Committee on Education and Religion, of which Dr. Joe Carter is chairman, and also the report of the Buildnigs and Grounds Committee of which Mr. Ennis Jackson is chairman.

The Board is made up of twenty Regents, ten men and ten women. There is one woman elected by the Synod to represent each Presbytery and one man elected by the Synod to represent each Presbytery, and one man and one woman elected at large. The vice-president of the Board is Mrs. Lewis B. Schenck of Concord Presbytery, and the secretary is Charles T. Hagan from Orange Presbytery.

Some of our girls helped serve the Men of Concord Presbytery on Tuesday night while the younger girls and boys helped eat. We had barbecue, baked beans, slaw, buns, pickles, ice cream, cake, coffee and cokes—a real good supper.

We had three birthdays in September. They were Virginia Dare Lane, Sue Moore, and Margaret Ramsey.

Little Joe's Church was host to the Senior High Fellowship rally for the Presbytery last Sunday. About 457 boys and girls attended.

As we have more beans to shell, we must close now and get busy.

Barium Springs Sidetracks Railroaders By 21-6

By JERRY JOSEY
Record & Landmark Sports Editor

SLOAN FIELD, Barium Springs—An alert defense that recovered a pair of Spencer fumbles and grabbed one pass out of the air for three touchdowns sparked Barium Springs' Tornadoes to a 21-6 victory over the Railroaders here yesterday afternoon as alumni filled the Presbyterian campus for the homecoming game.

The victory brought R. G. Calhoun's lads to their first win this season and evened their North Piedmont Conference record at 1-1. Spencer dropped their fourth straight game in the meeting.

The lightweight Tornadoes looked good offensively and were baffled in the final half by Spencer's spread formation for a passing attack. But otherwise, they were outweighed but not outplayed.

Barium struck early in the game, pushing over a TD in the opening period with 40 seconds left in the first quarter. End Sidney Morrison cracked through the Spencer defense to recover Sammy Miller's fumble on the Railroaders 17 to set up the first Presbyterian TD. Lawton Rice hit Walter "Dub" Plyler on a beautiful pass play from 12-yards out for the score and Ronnie Hudgins kicked the first of three straight conversions for a 7-0 Tornado lead.

Another Spencer fumble set up the second Barium score. Spencer had driven to the Tornado seven before the Presbyterians repelled the attack as Don Sebastian, Railroader quarterback, fumbled and Peyton Miller recovered for Barium on the seven.

On the first play from scrimmage, Rice took the snap from center LeNair Burns, handed off to Fullback Charles Ward and Ward speed through a tremendous hole over left tackle, cut to the outside as Miller threw a key block and ran down the sidelines for 93 yards and the TD. Hudgins' conversion again split the uprights for a 14-0 lead.

Spencer came back on a 56-yard drive into Baruim territory only to have Walter Plyler pull a Sebastian aerial intended for Dale Lanning out of the skies on the Barium two to end a serious threat as the first half ended.

Neither team drove deep into scoring territory in the third period as Spencer's Larry Jacobs and Barium's Lawton Rice waged a punting duel amid Spencer's passing efforts from a spread formation that caught the Barium secondary flat-footed several times.

A Barium fumble early in the fourth period set up Spencer's only score as Dale Lanning came up with the pigskin on the Tornado 28. Sebastian passed to Sammy Miller for 18 yards and a first down on the 10 and then hit Lanny Ryan with a 10-yard toss for the score. Jim Kiser broke through to block Bill Poole's attempted conversion.

Barium drove to the Spencer 19 before being forced to punt and Spencer drove back to Barium's 36 where Plyler intercepted another pass to stall a Railroader bid. Barium failed to move the ball and Rice lifted a 50-yard punt to Sebastian to set the Railroaders back deep in their own territory.

Sebastian, attempting to pass out of the hole, provided the finishing touch to Spencer's downfall. Cutting loose an aerial intended for Ronnie Snider, Sebastian saw Lawton Rice race in and take the ball from Snider's fingertips and race down the sidelines for 17 yards with the intercepted aerial for the final Barium score. Hudgins' educated toe again found the mark well for the final 21-6 tally.

Defensively, Richard Blackburn, Sidney Morrison, Wayne Wright, Donald Frazier, Jim Blake, Jim Kiser, Peyton Miller, Randy Shaw and LeNair Burns sparked Barium's line play while Hudgins and Plyler made a lot of tackles in the secondary.

Ends Dale Lanning and Larry Jacobs were outstanding for Spencer.
